

COVID-19 Update – January 2022

Masks and Social Distancing - There continues to be a variety of perspectives and concerns around COVID-19 and the recommendations on how to best stop the spread of the virus. Wearing masks and social distancing are proven to help reduce the known risks. With a variety of opinions, ages affected, vulnerabilities, and other health concerns all around us, thank you for continuing to be Christlike in how you demonstrate love for one another throughout these changing conditions.

You are always welcome to wear a mask if you choose to do so. Parents should use their own discernment regarding whether or not their children wear masks. Many are once again wearing masks and many are not.

Our seating in the auditorium provides options for you. The two center sections are wide open and both side sections will continue to have every other row closed to allow for distancing. Please use your best discernment regarding seating. There is plenty of room to spread out across our lobby as you connect with others.

As per our normal health guidelines, anyone that is sick, has had a fever within 24 hours, or that has potentiality been exposed to a contagious illness, should stay away from others outside their immediate family.

We invite you to be with us for in-person services knowing that we have plenty of space for you and you will continue to have options for distanced seating. We are also dedicated to continuing our live-stream feed each week across our several broadcast channels. We are all in this together and please remember that however you choose to connect, it is all about Jesus!
