

Big Fish Mission

Ever had a pet that loved to run away? Ever had one that was stick-close faithful? What were your feelings and reactions related to those pets?

Kick-off concept:

When you're sinking low, headed down, the LORD fiercely intervenes. Get ready for resurrection.

Read Jonah, chapter 1 + Matthew 12:38-41.

What stands out as intriguing in these opening scenes of the story?

How does the kick-off concept challenge, stretch, or otherwise morph your own perspective?

Put yourself in Jonah's sandals.

Would you say you're running away or toward God's mission right now in your life? Why?

Ponder these Qs:

How merciful has God been to me?

Who is God calling me to become?

With whom is God calling me to share his message? What will my responsive heart and actions look like?
